

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Tuesday, May 11

1999

Assoc Admin Rothenberg speaks at all-hands May 17

All civil service and contractor employees are invited to Morris Auditorium Monday, May 17, from 2-3 p.m. for an all-hands meeting. Joseph H. Rothenberg, associate administrator for Space Flight, will speak. His address will be broadcast via Marshall closed-circuit television for those unable to attend.

NASA employees may participate in depression screening project. Call 544-7549

Hearing training, May 11, 7:30 a.m., 9:30 a.m., 1 p.m., Bldg. 4200, Morris Auditorium

TABES '99 to focus on technology for the future

The 15th annual Technical and Business Exhibition and Symposium (TABES) is being held May 18-19 at the Von Braun Center in Huntsville. The two-day event is organized around four distinct symposium tracks covering aerospace, business, defense and technology. Visit www.tabes.org for details.

Asian Pacific/American Heritage luncheon set

The Marshall Center and the U.S. Army will celebrate Asian Pacific/American Heritage Month with a luncheon May 25 from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. at the Redstone Arsenal Club. Tickets, at $8, are available from Marshall's Equal Employment Opportunity Office at 544-0088.

Medical Center offering blood pressure checks to all employees daily, 12-3 p.m.